

Sport Fishing Trip on Gatun Lake

The Chagres River is the main supplier of freshwater for the Canal's Gatun Lake at 85 feet above sea level. And this 164-sq.-mile-lake was the world's largest artificial one from 1914 (when the Canal was built), until 1936 (when the USA dammed the Colorado River with the Hoover Dam, creating Lake Mead). Gatun Lake provides one of the world's best freshwater sport fishing. Feel the excitement as you hook on the three main sport fish: Peacock bass, snook or tarpon.
